BACKGROUND INFORMATION Overview of HPMA

Healthcare People Management Association (HPMA) has a history of nearly 50 years since its inception when the first personnel manager roles were created in the UK health sector. Previously to that, personnel was part of the general administration function.

The first meeting in Lichfield of what was then called National Association of Health Service Personnel Officers (NAHSPO) was in 1974 when colleagues gathered together to compare share experience, develop their skills and discuss the how they could improve the health of the nation through good HR practices.

The organisation has been through several chapters during its history, including three name changes. The organisation was renamed Association of Healthcare HR Management (AHRM) in 1994 and renamed as Healthcare People Management Association (HPMA) in 2005. And during this time some things have remained a constant:

- HPMA Awards - the HPMA Awards, is currently the largest event in the HPMA calendar and awards are increasingly hotly contested.
- HPMA Annual Conference – The first annual conference was in 1976 and last year was reintroduced into the annual calendar after an 8-year absence.
- HPMA Newsletter – This is a monthly publication for members, has been produced through most of HPMA's history and has been refreshed alongside our presence on social media.

Most importantly, HPMA has always been about people professionals, coming together to listen, learn, share ideas and challenges and doing so to improve the quality of our health and care services, thereby improving the lives of people across the UK.

HPMA successfully registered as a charitable incorporated organisation in June 2016, registered with the Charities Commission, with a new constitution. HPMA now has a clearly defined set of charitable objects (see below), a new constitution, new rules and byelaws and other governance documentations.

Since then, HPMA has been through a period of embedding these new governance arrangements, defining HPMA's vision and strategy and undertaking a transformation of the operational activities.

Our Charitable Object, Our Vision & Our Strategy

Our Charitable Objects The objects of HPMA are to promote and protect good health and relieve sickness for the public benefit through:

- (1) Developing and maintaining good practice in the science of people management by such means as the trustees think fit, including:
 - (a) bringing together all those working within people management and related services within health and care services in a UK-wide network;*
 - (b) promoting excellence in people management, organisational development and leadership within healthcare services;*
 - (c) working in partnership with other organisations, health and care commissioners and providers to benefit patients through people management, organisational development and leadership;
- (2) Undertaking studies and research work into people management and related services within health and care and publishing useful results.*

Our Vision is simply to improve health through people and our strategy is summarised in the document overleaf.
